It’s clear that ransomware was one of the main threats for 2017. In 2018, cybercriminals will continue to use these threats and invent new ones to break into your network.

Top 10 business threats in 2017

1. Ransomware Targets Businesses in 2017
2. Malwarebytes detected 100,000,000 Cryptomining attacks blocked by Malwarebytes.
3. The jump in Spyware matches the decline of ransomware at the end of the year.
4. Other 2017 trends
   - Drive-by Mining will give birth to dangerous new threats
   - Supply chain attacks will lead to new methods of malware infection
   - Government and private business leaks will lead to more weaponized zero-day vulnerabilities

Predictions for 2018

- Ransomware increase in business ransomware detections year over year.
- Supply chain attacks will lead to new methods of malware infection.
- Government and private business leaks will lead to more weaponized zero-day vulnerabilities.