

MALWAREBYTES AND STELLAR CYBER

Partnering to deliver consistent security outcomes

As security products become more complicated, security teams, especially those with limited resources, must spend more time maintaining their security controls than using them to investigate and mitigate cyber threats.

Malwarebytes and Stellar Cyber focus on delivering products that meet the needs of resource-constrained security teams. Now, the power of our independent products combined to deliver a comprehensive security platform to produce consistent security outcomes across all environments; on-premises, cloud, and anything in between.
